

HECSE 2019 Summer Institute

Please join the Higher Education Consortium for Special Education (HECSE) for its biannual summer Institute, July 28th – 31st, 2019, in Vail, Colorado. This year's objectives include:

1. Developing projects around doctoral preparation (e.g., impacting policy at the Federal and state levels; quality Indicators for online programs; future goals and directions such as the role and impact of technology, etc.)
2. Identifying research to understand the capacity and needs of doctoral programs in Special Education

Tentative Agenda

SUNDAY: Travel day (vans run regularly from DIA to the conference center)

MONDAY

- 8-9 networking (meet for breakfast in small groups)
- 9-12 developing outcomes (large group)
- Lunch in small groups
- 1-3 small group processing: deigning action steps
- 3-6 large group: review discussion of outcomes; plan for Tuesday

TUESDAY

- 8-9 working groups breakfast
- 9-12 gathering data and begin writing projects
- Lunch in small groups
- 1-5 work on writing projects
- 5-6 debriefing

WEDNESDAY

- 9-12 Outline clear goals, objectives, and timelines for completing projects

Due to space limitations at the facilities, this working conference is limited to 25 participants

For more information: Jeffrey A. Anderson, President, Higher Education Consortium for Special Education (HECSE: <http://www.hecse.net/>) Indiana University School of Education

HECSE is grateful to the University of Northern Colorado School of Special Education's Bresnahan-Halstead Foundation for partially sponsoring this event