EOD	In 2018, the University of North Florida (UNF) received the prestigious INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) Award, the only application-based national award for U.S. colleges and universities that exhibit an outstanding commitment to diversity and inclusion across their campuses. In addition, UNF ranked highest among the 80 HEED institutions and was also recognized as a 2018 Diversity Champion. The University of North Florida (UNF) is committed to providing an inclusive and welcoming environment for all who interact in our community. In building this environment, we strive to attract students, faculty and staff from a variety of cultures, backgrounds and life experiences. The University of North Florida is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not commit or permit discrimination or harassment on the basis of genetic information, race, color, religion, age, sex, disability, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, marital status, national origin, or veteran status in any educational, employment, social, recreational program or activity that it offers. In addition, UNF will not commit or permit retaliation against an individual who complains of discrimination or harassment or an individual who cooperates in an investigation of an alleged violation of University Regulation.
Carnegie	UNF is a Carnegie Community Engaged Institution. This designation celebrates the University's collaboration with community partners from the local to the global level. It reflects UNF's mission to contribute to the public good and prepare educated, engaged citizens.
Faculty Initiatives	The University of North Florida promotes the quality and effectiveness of education and strives to maintain the highest standards of academic excellence in all phases of instruction, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service.
General Description / Primary Purpose	The Exceptional, Deaf, and Interpreter Education Program (EDIE) is seeking a full time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor in special education. This position has responsibilities in teaching, research, and service. The department offers graduate-level Behavior Analyst Certification Board (BACB) approved courses that meet skill, theory, and opportunities for clinical practice hours required by the BACB Task List. The candidate should be well grounded in the knowledge and pedagogy of special education and the theory and practice of applied behavior analysis. Teaching responsibilities include courses related to special education, ABA, and/or disability services. Scholarship should demonstrate a clear program of research and potential for external funding. Service is expected at all levels, especially related to ABA programming. Successful candidates will have opportunities to engage in the collaborative work of the department, college, and university (e.g., On Campus Transition Program). UNF is classified by Carnegie as a doctoral/professional university. We are committed to globally recognized, innovative programs and practices; impacting our fields/professions through high quality teaching, scholarship, and service; and preparing graduates who are transformative leaders in their professions. UNF is located just minutes from the Atlantic Ocean and within a vibrant and changing diverse community.
